I'LL JUST LET HIM AIR HIS GRIEVANCES.

A patron at a restaurant was continually bothering the waiter about the air conditioning. First, he would ask for the air conditioning to be turned up because it was too hot. Then he would ask that it be turned down because it was too cold. This went on for about half an hour. To the surprise of the rest of the customers, the waiter was very patient, walking back and forth very pleasantly. Finally, a different customer asked, "Why don't you just throw out the pest?" "Oh, I don't care," said the waiter with a grin. "We don't even have an air conditioner."

"What did your mother do yesterday morning, Vicky?"
"She done her shopping, ma'am."
"Done her shopping, Vicky? Where's your grammar?"
"She done her shopping as well, ma'am," Vicky replied.

NICE SET OF CHAIRS.

Peter told his doctor, "Doc, I'm seeing double!"
"Sit on the chair please," the doctor replied.
"Which one?" Peter asked.

One day, Uncle Joe got fired from his construction job. His nephew asked him what happened.
"You know what a foreman is?" Uncle Joe asked.
"The one who stands around and watches the other men work?" the nephew asked. "What's that got to do with it?"
"Well, he got jealous of me," Uncle Joe explained. "Everyone thought I was the foreman."

I GOT YOUR GOAT WITH THAT JOKE.

A group of Americans was traveling by tour bus through Holland. As they stopped at a cheese farm, a young guide led them through the process of cheese making, explaining that goat's milk was used. She showed the group a lovely hillside where many goats were grazing. "These," she explained, "are the older goats that we put out to pasture when they no longer produce." She then asked, "What do you do in America with your old goats?" A spry old gentleman answered, "They send us on bus tours!"

I NEED TO BE RECYCLED.

A bicycle can't stand on its own because it's two tired.

As a 30-year-old kindergarten teacher was talking to the children seated on the floor around her, she absentmindedly removed her glasses to clean them. "Wow, Miss Collins!" one child exclaimed. "You look really different without your glasses on!" Another child piped up, "I bet she looks different when she takes her teeth out, too!"

The man charged into the jewelry shop, slammed his fists angrily on the showcase, removed a wristwatch from his pocket, and shook it under the nose of the owner. "You said this watch would last me a lifetime!" he yelled. "Yeah, I did," admitted the owner. "But you looked pretty sick the day you bought it."

A schoolteacher's son brought home his report card. The father said, "Let's see what you have accomplished." He opened the report and, to his dismay, saw all bad grades. "What do you have to say about this Johnny?" the father demanded. "Well Dad, at least you know I'm not cheating."

My wife and I are teachers, and our jobs often spill over into our family life. One morning, as our eight-year-old, Maggie, was getting ready for school, I peeked into her room to make sure she had tidied it up. "You call THAT a made bed?" I asked.
"No, Dad," Maggie replied. "It's just a rough draft."

I JUST CLIPPED MY COMPETITION.

Two barbershops were in red-hot competition. One put up a sign advertising haircuts for seven dollars. Not to be outdone, his competitor put up one that read, "We repair seven-dollar haircuts."

I WAS UNDER DURESS TO GET HER A DRESS.

The judge frowned at the tired robber and said, "Then you admit breaking into the same store on multiple occasions?"
"Yes, your honor."
"And why was that?"
"Because my wife wanted a dress."
The judge checked with his records, "But it says here you broke in three nights in a row!"
"Yes, sir," the man replied. "She made me exchange it two times."
